

Calling all students!

Advance your education when you apply today to become an ASCM 2020 Scholar

The ASCM Scholar Program gives students a chance to participate in the ASCM annual conference. As a scholar, you'll network with industry professionals, attend educational and academic sessions tailored to your needs, and gain valuable knowledge about the supply chain industry.

The ASCM Supply Chain Council will sponsor a limited number of student members with complimentary conference registration to ASCM 2020 and hotel accommodations, double occupancy with another scholar.

To become a scholar, applicants must meet the following requirements:

- Undergraduate or graduate ASCM student member
- Enrolled full-time during the fall 2020 semester (comparable to 12 credits a semester for an undergraduate student and 9 credits a semester for a graduate student)
- Age 18 by September 1, 2020
- Apply by the deadline of April 28, 2020
- Be able to attend the full event from September 13-15, 2020

APPLY TODAY

We encourage students who are interested in supply chain and operations management, engineering and business to apply. No previous scholar experience is necessary.

If you have questions please contact Dana Day, Manager, Member Relations, at dday@ascm.org.

Winning entries will be based on college major, leadership experience and other factors.
